

- Ball class, 122–125
- Ball objects, 125–127
- callbacks, 137–141
- demo ball with SimpleText and SimpleButton, 135–137
- interface vs. implementation, 137
- program with buttons, 131–132
- reusable object-oriented button, 127–132
- reusable object-oriented text display, 133–135
- SimpleButton, 130–131
- SimpleText class, 133–135
- steps to display text, 133
- object-oriented solutions
  - classes, 19–20
- objects. See also memory used by objects; physical objects
  - calling methods of, 30–31
  - calling methods on lists of, 83–84
  - and classes, 23–25
  - counting, 250
  - creating from classes, 28–30
  - definition of, 33
  - encapsulation with, 164
  - garbage collection, 248
  - inside vs. outside, 164–165
  - owning data, 165
  - reference count, 242–248
  - sending messages to, 184